Fire Siren to Give Enigmatic Message

Strident Tones Will Be Heard Monday, in Interests of Legion Fete

Comes Monday evening next, the twelfth of the May Days, and sharply enough at 7:30 o'clock there will shriek forth from Old Sarah herself, the strident siren on Elm Hall belfry, an enigmatic message, emitted in Morse terms, telling the community something which it ought to know. Pending its proclamation in next week's Our Town those who can may guess its content, decipher its code, and for the first who so discerns an order for $20 worth of groceries will be awarded, to be used at the winner's own favorite store, in Narberth, of course. To all the folks let the melancholy wail signify that the tickets for the American Legion affair which they have received, or will receive, will not be happy or content until they are cared for, paid for, and they have, it is said, a most uncanny way of disturbing the rest of those who are so unmindful of their importance as to leave them, unpaid for and alone, on the sideboard, cupboard or, mayhaps, in the old vest

Narberth to Play College Stars in Opening Game

The Narberth baseball team will make its debut in the 1930 season in a practice game tomorrow on the Playground with a team of University of Pennsylvania stars managed by the Rev. John R. Hart, Jr.

The lineup for the college stars will be: Jesse Purnell, rf.; Howard Berry, 2b.; Gene Conell, c.; Johnny Scott, ss.; Jack Hart, lf.; Paul Murphy, 3b.; George Gordon, 1b.; Walter Ziegler, cf.; Gene Gruhler, p.

Narberth's lineup was undecided as Our Town went to press, but it was expected that many would see action.

The new uniforms will not make their appearance, however, until the first home league game on May 30.

Five Motorists Warned

Five of six persons who received summons for failure to heed stop signs in the borough appeared for a hearing before Burgess Henry A. Frye in Elm Hall yesterday morning. Since all were first offenders, they were discharged with a warning.

Final Concert May 27

The Main Line Orchestra will give the last concert of the season on Tuesday evening, May 27, in the Junior High Auditorium, Ardmore.

Bohlen to Address Meeting in Borough

Wet Candidate For U. S. Senator to Be Speaker at Elm Hall Today

Anti-Prohibition headquarters were opened in Narberth this week on Haverford Avenue, in the store next door to Davis'. Those in charge state that an active endeavor will be made to center wet sentiment in support of the Republican candidacies of Francis H. Bohlen for U. S. Senator and Thomas Phillips for Governor.

According to statements issued by Frank A. Schrepfer, chairman of the Narberth Committee for Prohibition Reform, the referendum promises of Francis Shunk Brown have no interest for those who are behind the Bohlen-Phillips ticket, and it is said local voters will be asked to give their suffrage to the straight anti-dry ticket.

It was also announced that a mass meeting will be held in Elm Hall on Tuesday evening, May 13, to be addressed by Mr. Bohlen and other advocates of the reform ticket.

Admission tickets for the meeting may be had at the Haverford Avenue headquarters, which will be open daily until the Primaries on May 20.

Boys to Run Boro For Hour Tonight

Will Fill All Offices From Eight to Nine and Clean Up Back Work.

EVENT OF BOY WEEK

This evening from 8 to 9 o'clock boys will take the place of the regular borough officials and transact the business of their posts. This is a yearly event of Boy Week and has met with such great success in the past that the regular incumbents look forward to the help given by the boys in bringing their work up to date.

Our Burgess was recently heard to say: "This is a mess, I've regusted." So Bob Hutchinson has been elected to show him "How to sock those Stop-Sign violators" and Bob is some socker.

The trouble between the president and secretary of Council and the Councilmen will be straightened out when the following elected boys take charge: President of Council, Louis Clawges; secretary, Charles Mason; Councilmen, Roy Humphries, Al McCarthy, Wayne Deaves, Howard Millard, Gordon Hackman and Robert Knopp.

The hot question that is sapping the vitality of our borough treasurer is "where to get the money that Council wants to spend" so Fred McCarthy has been elected to whisper in his ear: "See Ted Dold!"

George Schroder and Tom Hawthorne were elected Fire Chief and Assistant Chief so the regular game of ping pong at the fire house need not be interrupted this Friday evening.

Thomas Laughlin will serve as Superintendent of Public Works and Drew Danbert as Sergeant of Police.

Did you see the Narberth turnout in the parade last Saturday? Sixteen Boy Scouts and nine future scouts represented the borough. While they did not win the prize they say they would have copped it had they been at the head of the parade instead of the end. All the judges were tired out and went home before the Narberth boys passed the reviewing stand.

Lower Merion High School lost a baseball game to their neighbor, Haverford High School, and in a manner quite neighborly too, as the visiting hillmen did not earn a single run.

Library Notes

The emergence of spring, which sets many folks to digging and planting, leads the Narberth Community Library to exhibit its garden books. A considerable group stands near the entrance to catch the eye of the gardener. There is variety in the collection, which ranges from slim and simple books like the Garden Primer or Shelton's Seasons in a Garden through all degrees to specialized and finely illustrated volumes like Sedgwick's Garden Month by Month (that encyclopedia of perennials) or Wilder's Pleasures and Problems of a Rock Garden. The newest is a book of lilies, flowers which are receiving increased and deserved popularity at present.

Lacey Wins Honors in Church Bowling League

As was announced last week the Lutheran Lions won the team championship for the 1929-30 season of the Narberth Church Bowling League.

Daniel Lacey, captain of the Catholic Colts, is champion bowler of the League, according to averages which have just been compiled. His record is as follows: average for the season, 179; total pins for three games in one month, 656; total pins for single game, 269.

As only one prize is awarded to a bowler, the second and third individual prizes will be awarded to the next in order.

The prize for the highest total pins for three games in one match will go to Albert Ward, of the Boosters, with 626.

The prize for the highest number of pins for a single game will be awarded to Lewis Nicholson, of the Battlers, 245 pins. Stuart Weiss, captain of the Lions, came within one pin of equalling this record for high single, having 244 pins.

Two men received honorable mention for having bowled in every game during the entire 1929-30 season—Horace Smedley, captain of the Battlers, and William Meehan, of the Colts.

Twenty-nine men bowled in two-thirds or more of the season's games and were eligible for prizes.

Enroll 16 New Children at Health Centre in April

Five conferences for pre-school children were held at the Narberth Child Health Centre during April with an attendance of 61. Sixteen of the children were newly enrolled during the month. Five of these were under one year of age, two under two years, and nine under six years. A physician and nurse were in attendance at each conference assisted by four local volunteers. Six Schick tests were also given.

May, the fifth month since the opening of the Narberth Centre, finds the total enrollment 63. The local volunteers were Mrs. C. A. Farmer, Mrs. Nelson C. Rowley, Mrs. L. W. Melcher, Mrs. W. R. Knauer, Mrs. Harry Banks and Mrs. W. Collins and Miss C. Morris, of Ardmore.

The Centre is desirous of rounding up all children of pre-school age who expect to enter school for the first time next fall so that they may be vaccinated against smallpox, immunized against diphtheria and have a complete physical examination. Whether this is done by the family physician or at the Health Centre is immaterial to those in charge of the Centre so long as these preventive measures are taken to safeguard the child from illness or physical defects which may retard its scholastic progress.

The Narberth Health Centre will be open throughout the summer each Wednesday from 2 to 3 P. M. under the able auspices of the Community Health and Civic Association of Ardmore. With co-operation from the homes the Centre hopes for 100 per cent. school preparedness for the borough's children.

Reach for this new Amos 'n' Andy record and laugh it off. Funnier than ever in these two hilarious skits—the first in a shoe store—the second in a gymnasium. They'll make you forget your troubles. But there are other smooth numbers on this week's list. Oh yes! More of that Olsenesque rhythm from the late movie hits, "High Society Blues" and "Montana Moon," by George Olsen and His Music. And for those who love the sonorous tones of the organ, Jesse Crawford performs in his usual superb fashion. Everyone can be added to your record library profitably. Drop in—we'll be glad to play them for you.

THE UNNAMED COLUMN

A Name Needed.

What's in a name? Five dollars in gold, perhaps. For that amount is being offered for a suitable name for this column. Of the many entries received in reply to a similar note last week, none have been found as suitable as the one suggested by Jess A. Littlekiss, column conductor. However, suggestions will be received until Tuesday evening, May 13, and just the right one may come along. The "column name" should be fairly general as the feature is published in three suburban news magazines. Address your ideas to Editorial Department, Livingston Publishing Co., 35 Cricket Avenue, Ardmore, Pa.—Ye Ed.

A New Policy

A famous American wit once observed that only two men are justified in speaking of themselves as "we"; the editor, and the man with a tape-worm. I do not at present fall into either category. And I sincerely hope that I shall never be included in the latter. Consequently, and with your kind indulgence, when I have occasion to refer at all to myself, I shall use the singular rather than the plural.

Our Trains

I could write volumes about the people that I see and the conversations that I hear on the local trains coming out from Broad Street. The jovial old gent in the ten-gallon hat. The beautiful brunette in blue, from Penn I'm afraid, who came out on the eleven-fifteen Friday. The young man who reads the "Town Crier." That's the new weakly in the City. The man who won an auto at the Bellevue a few weeks ago. The two sophisticated little Episcopal Academy lads who have already acquired their Harvard accents. The conductor who has a mania for trying to punch my ticket twice. Some day I'll punch his. The Professor with the funny cloth hat. He probably doesn't even know it's funny. Incidentally, on the subject of trains, if you ever see me on the train, you'll know me. I'm the man who doesn't have a pass.

The Insurance Profession

This is the first of a series of short dissertations on the various professions, which, for some reason or another, men seem to follow. I got the idea on the train. "About as jolly," quoth the man on the seat in front, "as an insurance executive watching a healthy fire." And that set me to thinking. What about insurance men? Are they really another race of men? They can't enjoy fires or accidents. One can insure against almost every possible risk; consequently every event of any striking importance brings sorrow into the life of some insurance man. Be it hail, or fire, or twins, some insurance company must dig deep into its corporate pocket-book. The insurance man leads a double life. He is an amiable Doctor Jekyll when he is selling, but a veritable Mr. Hyde when the building burns or the insured unexpectedly shuffles off this mortal coil. There is something supremely artistic about the way these life insurance boys back up the hearse and make you smell flowers when you are the least bit reluctant about buying another ten thousand; and something peculiarly appalling about the way they shout "suicide!" if the insured merely happens to die the day after taking out the policy. Oh well, there are ways and ways of making a living. And if a young college grad doesn't try the insurance game, he must spend the greater part of his days riding strange feet out of the offices of gentlemen who want no bonds today, thank you!

Politically Speaking

That's a remarkable array running for the Republican nomination for election to the allegedly upper house at Washington. Uncle Joe, Jim Davis, or Frank Bohlen? That's a mighty perplexing question. The only more perplexing question I can imagine at the present moment is why all these fine men should desire to be members of the Senate at all. I don't want to be a Senator. Of course, Senators

Child Health

As this week marks the sixth anniversary of the American Child Health Association some statistics in regard to "our most precious national asset," as President Hoover terms our children, furnished through the courtesy of the Narberth Child Health Centre, may not be amiss.

It has been well said that "the health of the child is the strength of the community." According to figures submitted by a joint committee of the National Educational Association and the American Medical Association there are 24,000,000 children of school age in America. Of these 7-10th to 1 per cent. (nearly 200,000) suffered from organic heart trouble; 50 to 98 per cent. (according to locality) had dental defects; 30 to 40 per cent. had adenoids and diseased tonsils; 30 to 40 per cent. had defects of posture and foot arches, and 12 per cent. (about 6,000,000) had uncorrected defects in vision. The defects of teeth, tonsils, breathing and malnutrition were more prevalent among children of pre-school age.

According to the "Child's Bill of Health," presented by the American Child Health Association, we should strive that there should be no child in America (1) who has not been born under proper conditions, (2) who does not live in hygienic surroundings, (3) who ever suffers from undernourishment, (4) who does not have prompt and efficient medical attention and instruction, (5) who does not receive primary instruction in the elements of hygiene and good health, (6) who has not the encouragement to express in the fullest measure the spirit within which is the final endowment of every human being.

The facilities of the Narberth Child Health Centre are available to all children of pre-school age in the borough to help put this creed into practice. With the co-operation of the home there is no reason why it should not succeed, as far as our community at least is concerned.

Dangers of Touring

With the touring season getting into its stride, the highways of the state soon will be carrying capacity traffic, which places an added burden of responsibility upon the motorist.

It may be assumed that accidents will happen, but by "accidents" we do not mean the tremendous number of avoidable crashes that annually take a toll in life and property. It should be the aim of every motorist to avoid dangerous driving practices, both for his own sake and that of other highway users.

A prolific source of danger not generally appreciated by motorists is the habit of driving on the wrong side of the road, especially at curves, according to a bulletin issued by the Keystone Automobile Club. Even veteran drivers are guilty of this practice. Statistics show that a high percentage of so-called "accidents" is due to violation of the cardinal principle of driving—"keep to the right."

Failure to have one's car under control at intersections is another serious driving defect. No motorist can ever assume, with safety, that he has a clear track at intersections unless the view is unobstructed for a good distance in advance of the crossing.

Observance of the rules of safety in these two particulars will result in appreciable lowering of the accident toll and will contribute greatly to the pleasure of driving.

Observing the satisfaction with which Calvin Coolidge doesn't choose to run any more, one might conclude pretty accurately that the finest job in the world is the ex-presidency of the United States.

Will Hays has forbidden the movies to show torture of suspects by the police, but he offers no plan to preserve faith in Santa Claus.

may be really fine men. They may be kind to their families and dumb animals, regular in their attendance at Wednesday night prayer meetin', and all that. But did you ever hear anyone shout "Hurray for the Senator!" I never did. Did you ever sit in the hot sun all afternoon just to watch a few Senators? Of a surety you did not. Yet you have watched the artistic A's under many a sweltering summer sun. Did you ever leave the dinner-table without partaking of dessert in order that you might hear a Senator on the radio? Thousands do that very thing nightly for Amos 'n' Andy. Be a Senator? Bah! Not I!—Jess A. Littlekiss.

Give Reception For New Minister

Rev. Frank Duncombe Welcomed by Other Clergymen of Bala-Cynwyd.

WOMAN'S CLUB FILLED

Clergymen from Bala-Cynwyd churches and others in nearby communities united Thursday evening, April 24th, in welcoming the Rev. Frank Duncombe to his new charge here—the Bala-Cynwyd Methodist Episcopal Church. The reception for the new minister was held in the Bala-Cynwyd Woman's Club, and was attended by a large number of churchgoers.

Addresses of welcome included those given by Dr. Herbert Walter Bieher, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant, Cynwyd; by the Rev. Thomas J. Haney, rector of St. Matthias' Church, Bala, and by the Rev. Benjamin N. Bird, rector of the Church of St. Asaph, Bala. (Dr. Albert E. Clattenburg, rector of St. John's Church, was absent because he had gone to Hastings, Nebraska, to address the annual convocation; he is due to return today.)

Other talks of welcome were given by Frank E. Baker, superintendent of the Sunday School, who presided; George Wilson, president of the Board of Trustees; Mrs. Wilbur S. Fricke on behalf of the women of the church, and Miss Frances Fricke for the young people.

A large delegation from Mr. Duncombe's former church, St. Philip's, in northeast Philadelphia, attended the meeting with the secretary of the district's business men's association, and with a speech of appreciation of Mr. Duncombe's services presented a rare pandanus plant.

Refreshments were served and there was an entertainment. Mrs. George W. Moore sang several solos, including three songs composed by Mrs.

Leo McHale, who accompanied her. Piano solos were played by Miss Elizabeth Gear.

Thompson—Bohr

The marriage of Miss Virginia E. Bohr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Bohr, of Boston, and Mr. Edward Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Thompson, of Cynwyd, will take place on Thursday evening, June 19, at 8 o'clock in St. Asaph's Church, Bala. The Reverend Benjamin Bird, rector of the church, will perform the ceremony.

Mrs. Robert Knox, of Providence, R. I., will be the matron of honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Janet Parsons, of Boston; Miss Marguerite Albert and Miss Doris Hoffman, of Westminster, Md.; and Mrs. Paul Miller, sister of the bridegroom.

Mr. W. A. Thompson, Jr., will act as best man for his brother and the ushers will be Mr. Charles Mecke, Mr. Paul Holmes, Mr. Frank Kromer, Mr. Paul Miller, Mr. Gordon Cochran, all of Cynwyd, and Mr. David Haines, of West Philadelphia.

A small reception will follow the ceremony at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Gordon Cochran, of Cynwyd.

Many Hear Musical Program at Boro Church

A large and appreciative audience gathered recently in the social hall of the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Narberth, to listen to an interesting program of piano and vocal solos rendered by two artists well known to Philadelphians.

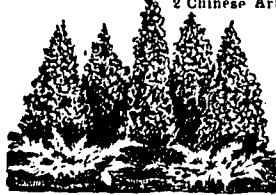

Miss Ruth McLinn, of Princeton, daughter of the late Dr. Milton McLinn, former pastor of the church, favored her hearers with a most impressive group of piano selections, varying from the masterful technicalities of Bach and Scarlatti to the subtle charms and light fancies of Chopin and Brahms. Two numbers in striking contrast, both of which were beautifully executed, were the dainty "Cuckoo" by Daquin and the ever-popular "Lullaby" by Brahms-Grainger.

Mrs. Helen Buchanan Hitner, of Philadelphia, chose a number of gay and vivid songs which revealed to advantage her beautiful lyric-soprano voice. The very essence of spring was conveyed in her "Come to the Fair," by Martin, while the song, "Il Baccio," by Arditi, made one desire to throw aside forever all the bonds of twentieth century conventions and to join hands with the carefree Roman revellers.

Miss McLinn and Mrs. Hitner were both gracious in yielding to the insistent demands of their hearers for encores.

Forum to Discuss

Jeremiah on the 15th

When the forum discussed Amos at its meeting early last month, it was brought out that he was the first literate personality in Old Testament history; that is, the first man who left a written record. Isaiah, who was the subject of the meeting last week, was found to have been the earliest literary figure in the same history. He left not only a written record, but one that is phrased in the enduring quality of real literature consciously practiced. That made him more interesting, but less a subject for argument and animated discussion.

The meeting last week was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Arley Farmer, of Woodbine Avenue, and the most interesting phase of the discussion of Isaiah and his writings was whether his prophecies actually foretold the coming of Christ. The internal evidence and the practical social and political situation in which he found himself and toward which he directed his arguments and warnings all seemed to indicate pretty clearly that Isaiah was not at all concerned with an event which was 700 years in the future and which, even if correctly and authoritatively foretold, could not have exercised the slightest influence upon the decisions of Isaiah's contemporaries.

The next meeting, the twelfth, will be held next Thursday evening, the 15th, at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Staples, of 124 Woodside Avenue. Jeremiah, said by some to represent the highest point in the Old Testament writings, will be the subject of discussion. Rev. Robert E. Keighton is the leader.

Sayward School Girls

Produce Senior Play

"By Way of Secret Passage" was produced by the Senior girls of the Sayward School, Overbrook, on Saturday night at the Woman's Club of Bala-Cynwyd and was exceedingly well done. Miss Helen Gaffney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Gaffney, of Church, played the lead of Elizabeth Drew, while that of her mother, the haughty Tory dame, was Miss Elizabeth Louise Wilson, daughter of Mrs. J. Howard Wilson, of Narberth. John Harvey, Elizabeth's continental lover, was portrayed by Millicent Abbott, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leonard C. Abbott, of Upland Road, Merion, while Miss Blanche Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard E. Morris, of Ardmore, played Wenanoh, the Indian maiden, who saves John Harvey's life. Of course the story ends happily with the marriage of Elizabeth and John.

Wife Beneficiary

The will of the late Arthur L. Bongartz, of Lower Merion, names his wife, Eva Alice Bongartz, sole beneficiary of his $16,000 estate.

John Keenan, of Narberth, disposing of an estate, the amount of which is not given, leaves the bulk to children, and leaves $100 to the Rev. Mark Cassidy for the saying of Masses for the repose of the soul of his wife. The income of 400 shares of Pennsylvania Railroad stock goes to two daughters, Mary, known in religion as Sister Mary Cathern, and Elizabeth, known in religion as Sister Mary Josephine.

At the death of the daughters the fund goes to four grandchildren, Paul and John Burns and William and John O'Brien. The children who receive the bulk of the estate are John B. Keenan, Catherine D. O'Brien and Margaret A. Burns.

Still Coming In

Donations are still coming in for the firemen's benefit, staged under the chairmanship of Mrs. Eberhard Mueller. The latest to be received is a check for $10 from Samuel Vauclein, of Rosemont. The total raised now amounts to $1801.

What Do You Mean By "A Wet"? What Do You Mean By "A Dry"?

What is it that earnest, clear-thinking citizens are trying to do—how much longer, in good conscience, can the Nation tolerate the present wretched conditions???

To the So-Called Wets!

You are convinced that the present way of handling the liquor problem is altogether wrong and you are anxious that something shall be done about it.

Everywhere you go you hear the same old stories and you probably wonder where the Prohibitionists keep themselves, as you rarely come across any of them in your travels.

Of course, you may read what they say in the newspapers and at Washington, and every time you do you are amazed at their ignorance of the actual facts or indignant at what frequently appears to be wilful misrepresentations.

They impress you on occasions as not being of this world at all, but of some far remote place, which is not exactly the celestial regions.

Possibly you wish at times you could take them by the neck and force some reason into them, and at other times you pray (maybe you do) that the light shall dawn upon them.

The experience seems to be universal, and the protest has constantly grown in volume, but nevertheless and notwithstanding dog-in-the-manger candidates are constantly elected to office.

All of which is due to the fact that we have allowed the politicians to take us over and we have assumed that their private views (wet) are more important than their public views (dry).

Another pretty set-up confronts us now and if you who are opposed do not watch your step you are going to be cheated once again.

Brown and Davis are straddlers—so is Grundy—so is Boyd—they are not worthy of your vote—they are out, with meaningless meanderings, to soft-soap both sides and to be free to do as they please if or when they are elected.

This ought to be a knockdown fight—a complete repudiation of political trickery—a fight betwixt freedom and fanaticism—and no wise-talk around the corner should divert you.

You know the kind of men and women who are spending their time and money in behalf of the wet ticket—not a professional among them—not a self-seeker in the lot—they are out with the spirit of crusaders to repair the damage which is all about us.

Line up with them—take their word as to the best way to do the thing—for once, forget the Vare and Johnson crowds and resolve to join hands with those who have studied every angle of the case—who are in the thick of the fray—at a great personal cost—and their advice is:

VOTE WET—No straddlers—Pay no attention to the referendum promise—we can get a referendum now—do not listen to the politicians who will tell you their man is O. K.—"He's as wet as the ocean, but for certain reasons he has to keep mum." (He'll keep mum later and for the same reasons.) Roll up your sleeves and go to it—VOTE WET—nothing else—don't be duped—VOTE WET—Vote for Bohlen and for Phillips and for Dorrance and for Evans—and do your best to accomplish a heavy ballot.

If every voter who is wet votes wet—victory is overwhelmingly sure, but a vote for the straddle ticket is no more than an idle gesture—and it won't help reform at all!

Don't compromise—don't straddle—VOTE WET—Vote for Bohlen, Phillips, Dorrance and Evans!

To the So-Called Drys!

You may regret that the Literary Digest Poll registers such a preponderating sentiment against the present liquor law, but you cannot deny or avoid the facts presented.

You were willing enough to accept the figures on the Presidential straw-votes and you know that subsequent results proved the forecasts absolutely accurate.

If you have been observing these things, you also know that local polls taken to check the Digest's summary have indicated that the "wet" vote exceeded the first returns.

As has been said, you may regret these things and deplore the poor judgment of those who oppose your own ideas, but you have had enough experience with the American people to agree that they usually know what they are about and that they are invariably disposed to base their conclusions on the evidence in hand.

Your side has had full swing for 10 years—the effects of the law are evil—it will not do what you wanted it to do—we are all in a bad state of mind—the Nation is being forced to keep what it does not want—and that's a posture of affairs which is never to be invited.

Other countries have come to the same cross-roads—every Nation which has ever tried Absolute Prohibition—but always there has been a co-ordination of viewpoints and another scheme adopted—and the other schemes have always made for progress—for better, more temperate conditions.

The United States, containing the same human nature as all the rest of the world, is the only land left with a law such as we have—and, once again, there is the plainest notice that our people resent and repudiate this law.

Do you claim that this great group of dissatisfied citizens ought to have it stuffed down their throats just the same—to be shot, kicked or spit upon because they protest it—to be harassed into a supine submission—or do you think there is a fair opportunity of getting what you really want and giving others their reasonable American rights by a proper spirit of compromise?

We believe there is an opportunity—we know there is—we know the dangers of liquor as well as you know them, possibly better—practically all the old-time temperance advocates, with all their experience, are in the wet ranks—they know the subject as the professional drys claim to know it, but don't.

You are not a professional dry—nor a fanatical dry—there would be no use talking to you if you were—you are an honest citizen earnestly seeking the honest facts—you want the country to get a grip on liquor which it can hold—so do we; you have a great concern about boys and girls—so have we; you despise the bootlegger for the menace that he is—so do we; you are disturbed because things are as they are—so are we.

And that being the case, why can't you follow our lead for a change—other ways have had a fair chance and you know what has happened—our plan corresponds with all the world has learned in the last eventful decade—a complete shuffle of the present cards, making sure to use those which have proven good.

Sooner or later you will have to decide on a reversal of your original attitude—you will ultimately have to concede that there is nothing temperate about Prohibition—that the interests of our country are far more important than those of any social or economic cause—why not get on the band-wagon NOW when it will do so much more good?

Vote the Wet Ticket, which, in truth, is the Dry-in-Fact Ticket. Vote for the Real Temperance which we all ought to have. Vote for Bohlen, for Phillips, for Dorrance and for Evans.

Vote Wet*—Vote for Bohlen—Phillips—Dorrance—Evans—all on the Republican Ballot

—all Republicans. Primary Election,
Tuesday, May 20, 1930

Which is the Dry Ticket in fact. A vote for a "dry" candidate, or a straddler, is a vote in favor of illicit liquor—don't let that truth be overlooked.

Narberth Committee for Prohibition Reform

See Good Vote For "Wet" Candidates

Expect Bohlen-Phillips Ticket to Receive Third of Votes Cast in Section

PARTY CONTROL VITAL

Indications that the Bohlen-Phillips ticket will receive a large vote in the Main Line suburbs are increasing rapidly. From scant attention paid to the senatorial and gubernatorial candidates a few weeks ago the tide seems to have risen until some of the optimistic "wets" say these men will run in second place when the vote is counted.

The "wet" leaders in this vicinity say that Messrs. Bohlen and Phillips will receive a full third of the votes cast in this section. Headquarters are established in several Main Line towns. That Francis H. Bohlen, a Main Line resident, has the backing of a number of both social and anti-prohibition leaders hereabouts will not hurt his chances, according to political prognosticators.

This "wet" ticket is expected to affect the Montgomery County situation only indirectly. Local organization leaders see Bohlen-Phillips supporters voting for their State Senate and Assembly candidates, holding that by no stretch of the imagination will they cast ballots for a "dry," or for a "wet" candidate who stands no chance whatever of obtaining the nomination. The Davis-Brown faction will be hit hardest by the Bohlen-Phillips inroads, with Grundy and Pinchot gaining indirectly.

On Monday, April 28th, nearly all the candidates for Montgomery County representation gave short talks before the Montgomery County League of Women Voters, at Norristown. This meeting brought out verbally what has been apparent for several weeks—that the major issue was that of control of Republican leadership; the massing of independent groups against the Johnson organization.

Organization speakers were James S. Boyd, candidate for State Senator; Mrs. Mabelle M. Kirkbride, for second district assemblyman; Fred C. Peters, Ardmore, for first district assemblyman; Mrs. George Ackerman, for State Committeewoman.

Senator Boyd, who acted as key-note for the organization, pointed out the value of having a delegation at Harrisburg which could muster enough strength to obtain for Montgomery

County its just share of improvements and with the legislative training to vote right on bills affecting the welfare of their constituents. The senator declined to state his views on the Prohibition problem because the State Committee had refused to place the question in its platform and he did not wish to violate party principles.

Benjamin H. Ludlow, of Ardmore, one of the three candidates for the State Senate, rapped the continuous office holder. He assailed the "hand-picked candidates" of the county organization, declaring this to be a direct violation of the true meaning of the primaries.

"If the purpose of the Primary election is to permit a man or woman to submit to interested neighbors a candidacy for public office, why should a county organization expect all of its committeemen and committeewomen to turn in the full force of their organization for the leader's own hand-picked candidates?

"The purpose of the primary is to insure a greater freedom of choice to voters. What actually happens is just as difficult for a Republican not subject to the yoke of the county organization to win at the primaries as if it were a general election. The practice of our county organization is directly opposed to the principle of the Primary Election law."

Mr. Ludlow declared that both the Pinchot and Brown-Davis factions in the county have endorsed his candidacy. He said no pledges, promises or vote-swapping had been done to obtain this support.

He urged support of the independent candidates for the Legislative posts. He also told his audience that a candidate to oppose Mrs. Mabelle

M. Kirkbride in the Second District would be announced before election.

Denial that he was a Vare man or in any way connected with the Philadelphia leader was made. He classed Vare as "through in politics." He said that his candidacy was in no way connected with that of B. Paul Sheeder, of Pottstown, candidate for the State Committee post. But he said he would vote for Mr. Sheeder.

Talking Pictures Explained to Boys

Guests of Neighborhood Club at Big Father and Son Meeting.

Cynwyd Fire Hall was crowded Tuesday, April 22, by the annual Fathers and Sons meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd Neighborhood Club. President James E. Hammer welcomed the boys, who included the Lower Merion Junior High School Band—thirty some pieces—under direction of Homer Smith.

The band played several numbers, and there was a special treat for the boys given by the Bell Telephone Company. It consisted of a demonstration of talking pictures and Western Electric sound equipment, by James E. Hearl, 2d, and technicians of the phone company. Robert F. Beale, new Main Line district manager of the company, was introduced.

The pictures seen-heard were "Finding His Voice," in which the Western Electric system was explained; "Desert Span," in which modern means of stringing wires across deserts were shown with humorous vocal interludes furnished by an old-fashioned mule; "Hello, Europe," an exposition of the trans-oceanic telephone service; and "Wires and Wings," a moving story of how telephone, aeroplanes and Dr. Chevalier Jackson, of Philadelphia, saved a child's life by means of the bronchoscope.

At the conclusion of the evening's entertainment, ice cream and cake was served.

MODERN BUYING

Instead of buying just “coal” when you fill your bins this spring, make your purchase in the modern manner and buy HEAT—most heat for each of your dollars.

Carbon is the element in coal which produces heat, while other elements result in ash. So, before you place your order, be sure that the coal you are getting contains the greatest possible amount of pure carbon and the least impurity.

For seventy-one years Jeddo-Highland, the Aristocrat of Anthracite, has been an out-standing coal on account of its uniform purity and great freedom from ash. For this reason it is proclaimed by all who use it to be a truly economical fuel.

Letter to Editor Congratulates School

To the Editor of Our Town:

Through the medium of "Our Town," I should like to express my appreciation of the wonderful May Day exhibition held on the Community Playground last Thursday. It was certainly a remarkable performance and a hearty word of thanks is due to those who made it possible. Special words of thanks and approbation are due Miss Church and Mr. Wetherill for their intensive training of our children for these exercises.

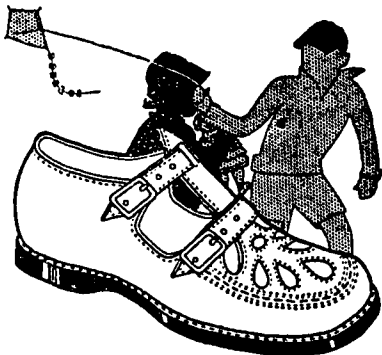

Mingling among the people who gathered at the playground to witness this event I heard such a large number of favorable comments that I felt prompted to write this letter in order how thoroughly pleased everyone who that our school faculty might know attended these exercises felt. We trust that this a good beginning which will be continued from year to year.

HELEN V. WOOLMINGTON,
(Mrs. C. H.) President.

Sub-Juniors to Elect

Officers for the new year will be elected by the Sub-Juniors of the Narberth Women's Community Club at their final meeting of the season, to be held Monday in Elm Hall.

For Summertime play ... get your children Barefoot Sandals

There's nothing would please your children more than a pair of barefoot sandals. They give such perfect foot freedom that tiny feet enjoy the relaxation and grow wonderfully healthy in them. You'll like the Geuting barefoot sandals best . . . for they not only look better and wear better . . . but are built over the famous Shoor-Tred lasts that mothers praise so much.

pocket, lavendered in Camel dust.

However, from the news that trickles in, no alarm need be felt as to the fate of the precious cards, because, according to Mrs. Arthur L. Cooke, chairman of the Ticket Distribution Committee, the co-operation of the Fire Department in lending the use of the Old Sarah is typical of the kindly consideration which the community generally is according "A Night Over There," the affair which is stirring up all the excitement.

"Have no fears," says Mrs. Cooke, erstwhile Marion Haws, "as this will be quite the biggest success Narberth-town ever did see. Everybody is enthusiastic and everybody will help. Our committee is being received in a splendid manner and the final results are sure to run far beyond the most sanguine expectations."

And from the earnest, full-sized man who has been assigned to lock-step the American Legion members on the program advertising, none less than Charles H. Greyer, comes the clarion statement "that this whole thing is going over with a bang, and no doubt about it."

So there you are and let the good dreams come true as all who can help in unstinted fashion to make the big date of May 28th at the Merion Tribute House one grand and glorious occasion.

(The Spectator.)

To Give Entertainment

There will be a movie and demonstration of the handling of milk and ice cream in one of the large dairies showing all the steps from the farm to the consumer at the Narberth Methodist Church on Tuesday, May 13, at 8 o'clock. A social with refreshments will follow. The proceeds will be devoted to the kitchen fund of the new church.

WELCOME—

Strawbridge & Clothier

In 1889 the group of progressive men who founded the Merion Title and Trust Company of Ardmore visioned the future of the Main Line and the Company has held steadfastly to the vision of the eventual metropolitan status of this area.

It is with very great pleasure that the Merion Title and Trust Company sees their vision reaching attainment in the opening of the new Main Line store of Strawbridge and Clothier. We know that this enterprise was not started before most exhaustive study on the part of the Executives and Directors of the Strawbridge and Clothier organization and we feel that the community has been honored and bespeak for our newest metropolitan neighbor the greatest of success and prosperity.
